What is the Dances With Wood program?

Dances With Wood is a creative arts program that serves children in hospitals who have life-threatening or life-limiting illnesses. The program provides children with the opportunity to experience the transforming power of their own imagination and creativity through woodworking projects that can be undertaken while a child is sitting or lying in a hospital bed.

Helps restore energy and enthusiasm.

Each project kit comes with a workbook that provides detailed instructions to guide the child through the steps for building the wooden project. Special exercises in the workbook also promote independent learning skills, writing, reading, math, art, and storytelling - all presented with humor and encouragement.

What is the Need?

When a child has a life-threatening or life-limiting illness, treatment often spans several years of hospital visits. This may result in severe physical and emotional hardships for the child and family.

Provides a distraction from fear and negative thoughts.

A Time of Vulnerability

During this time of vulnerability, educational and creative activities can be a powerful aid in fostering cognitive, social, emotional, and physical development. The Dances With Wood program was created to meet this important need. The program has been specifically designed to be used by children who must spend many long days (and often weeks) undergoing treatment in the hospital.

Promotes emotional and psychological growth.

Please make a donation today and give the gift of love.
